Week of October 14th: breakfast will be served on Tuesday and Thursday due to the holiday and mini day.

Tip of the Day: How to create effective study notes

1. Choose the Right Method

Cornell Method: Divide your page into three sections: notes, cues, and summary. This helps organize information and makes review easier.

Mapping Method: Create visual mind maps connecting ideas, which is great for visual learners.

Highlight Key Information: Use Colors: Highlight or underline important terms and concepts to make them stand out

Summarize After Class: Write a brief summary of your notes to reinforce what you've learned and regularly review

Active Listening: Pay attention and actively listen during lectures to capture the most important points

Ask Questions: Don't hesitate to ask questions if something is unclear, and note down the answers.

Why it helps: By integrating these note-taking strategies, you can significantly boost your academic performance and develop new skills that will benefit them throughout your educational journey and beyond.

“Success is the sum of small efforts - repeated day in and day out.”-Robert Collier
